TEMPLATE LETTER

June 10, 2021

Senator/Representative
[Address]
Columbus, OH 43215

Dear Senator/Representative:

My name is [xxxx] and I live and work in [LOCATION], Ohio. [Say a little bit about yourself – where you grew up, where you go church, what you believe.]

Children depend on the decisions made by adults and we cannot let them down. Ohio's budget is a reflection of our values, and I urge you to invest in what matters – let's do right by our children. This means that we must invest in whole child wellbeing – not just pieces and parts.

I write to you today about issues that I care about and believe will impact all Ohio children for generations to come:

- All Children Deserve Fair School Funding: The House version of the budget included the “Fair School Funding Plan”, which has been developed over the past several years with a broad coalition of educators, school leaders, community input, etc. This robust school funding plan is widely supported and based on best practices, actual costs, and what's best for a child's educational experience. This plan is preferred over the Senate plan.
- Support Broadband for All Ohioans: Access to health, economic, and educational opportunity requires access to broadband. However, the Senate removed critical funding for broadband infrastructure that was included in the House version of the budget ($190M). Note: Ohio has a \$2.3B problem with broadband and over 1 million Ohioans lacking access. The $190M represented an important down payment in building out this infrastructure and must be restored for the sake of our children and families.
- Support Children's Health and Wellbeing: The Senate version of the budget includes an important provision that would extend post-partum insurance coverage through Medicaid to new parents. However, we're disappointed to see the Governor's proposed expansion of evidence-based home visiting for parents and their children eliminated from the Senate version. The Governor's proposal would expand evidenced-based home visiting to children aged five and would also increase the frequency of nurse visits.
- All Children Deserve Quality Child Care: I am concerned about the Senates' decision to eliminate Step Up to Quality \(SUTQ\), Ohio's 5-star Quality Rating and Improvement System. Eliminating Step Up to Quality is a direct assault on children, families, childcare providers and professionals, philanthropies, businesses, communities, and Ohio taxpayers who have invested millions of dollars in this evidence-based approach.

- Prioritize Investments in Children and Families. The Senate and the House each provided for an income tax cut, 2% and 5% respectively. However, these tax reductions are symbolic at best and do nothing to benefit struggling Ohioans. The Senate’s proposed 5% income tax reduction will cost $854M. These funds are best used to support desperately needed public services such as child care quality, broadband infrastructure, Fair School Funding, etc.

Ohio is at a crossroads and now is the time for us to chart a bold path to support our children and our future. That means investing in infrastructure and supports that extend opportunity to all children regardless of their zip code – whether they live in rural, urban, Appalachian, or small town communities.

The choice is ours and we must envision a future for our children that builds a path to prosperity where all children in Ohio can be healthy, are safe, benefit from quality early care and education, and have a world-class educational experience that prepares them for successful adulthood. I am asking you as someone who represents me and the interests I have, especially those that impact the lives of Ohio children, to make bold choices that invest in and are representative of long-term vision for our great state. I guarantee you that these efforts and believing in Ohio is worth it.

Thank you for your attention and consideration.
